Fund Factsheet | As of 31 Oct 2025

New Capital Investment Entrant Scheme (New CIES) Eligible fund

Investment involves risks, including the loss of principal. The price of units or shares of the Funds may go up as well as down. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of the Funds can be extremely volatile and could go down substantially within a short period of time. You should read the Fund's Placing Memorandum or Explanatory Memorandum and Product Key Facts Statement for details, including risk factors. Investors should not base investment decisions on this marketing material alone. Please note:

- ChinaAMC Select RMB Bond Fund (the "Fund"), through the RQFII quota obtained by the Manager, invests primarily in RMB denominated fixed income securities issued or distributed in the PRC and may invest a small portion of its assets in PRC A-Shares.
- The Fund is subject to regulations which regulate investments by RQFIIs in the PRC which have just been announced and novel in nature. Any uncertainty and change to the relevant laws and regulations (such as PRC tax laws and repatriation policy) in the PRC may adversely impact the Fund.
- Investment in single country (the PRC) markets involves concentration and other risks not typically associated with investment in more developed economies or markets.
- Investment in RMB debt instruments in the PRC involves liquidity risk, credit risk, credit rating risk and downgrade risk. There may not be a liquid or active market for such RMB debt instruments; the Fund may also be exposed to credit/insolvency risk of issuers of the debt securities. As the credit ratings of the debt instruments of the Fund are largely assigned by the credit agencies in the PRC, the methodologies adopted by such local rating agencies may not be consistent with the international rating agencies. In the event of downgrading in the credit ratings of a debt instrument or its issuer, the Fund's investment value in such security may be adversely affected.
- Investment in the Fund is subject to interest rate risk. Change of macro-economic policies in the PRC such as monetary and fiscal policy may cause changes to market interest rates, affecting the pricing of bonds and thus the return of the Fund.
- The Fund is denominated and settled in RMB; subscription and redemption must be made in RMB. RMB is not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. There is no guarantee that RMB will not depreciate. HKD Investors may suffer a loss if RMB depreciates against HKD or such other currencies.

▲ Manager's Comment

The widely watched CPC Central Committee Plenum laid out the next five-year plan for China. First, the long-missing statement of 'pursue economic development as the central task' is back, which is beyond expectation and probably indicates prioritizing economic growth amid the current international environment. The term 'consumption' appears more times than before in the official Communiqué. The term is also associated with a new concept of 'investing in people' in parallel to 'investing in physical assets.' It is an innovative way to say that the government will spend more on education, social welfare, and family subsidies, which are basically equivalent to boosting households' ability to consume. The property market is not given much attention in the Communiqué, which probably means strong policy actions to revitalize the property market are not on the cards. The property market should not expect more than mild support. Innovation and technology self-reliance remain the top priority in the new 5-year plan. Given the current geopolitical environment, especially the intense competition between China and the US, this will not surprise anyone. What it implies is going to be continuing investment in manufacturing, with a concentration in technology-intense sectors. All in all, this is a fairly balanced plan. While manufacturing and investments are the focus, this plan is a little more tilted towards consumption than before.

The bond market staged a rebound in Oct. Talks about reform on mutual fund fee schemes had driven institutional money to flee from bonds in Q3. October saw the exodus from bonds slowing after more clarity became available with regard to the timeframe and phasing process of the reform. Moreover, the PBoC resumed the bond purchase program in October, also a positive move for bonds. The rebound is likely going to stall, and the bond market may enter a rangy mode at the year's end because the yields are now close to the levels satisfactory to the PBoC.
