Fund Factsheet | As of 31 Mar 2026

New Capital Investment Entrant Scheme (New CIES) Eligible fund

Investment involves risks, including the loss of principal. The price of units or shares of the Funds may go up as well as down. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of the Funds can be extremely volatile and could go down substantially within a short period of time. You should read the Fund's Placing Memorandum or Explanatory Memorandum and Product Key Facts Statement for details, including risk factors. Investors should not base investment decisions on this marketing material alone. Please note:

- ChinaAMC Select RMB Bond Fund (the "Fund"), through the RQFII quota obtained by the Manager, invests primarily in RMB denominated fixed income securities issued or distributed in the PRC and may invest a small portion of its assets in PRC A-Shares.
- The Fund is subject to regulations which regulate investments by RQFIIs in the PRC which have just been announced and novel in nature. Any uncertainty and change to the relevant laws and regulations (such as PRC tax laws and repatriation policy) in the PRC may adversely impact the Fund.
- Investment in single country (the PRC) markets involves concentration and other risks not typically associated with investment in more developed economies or markets.
- Investment in RMB debt instruments in the PRC involves liquidity risk, credit risk, credit rating risk and downgrade risk. There may not be a liquid or active market for such RMB debt instruments; the Fund may also be exposed to credit/insolvency risk of issuers of the debt securities. As the credit ratings of the debt instruments of the Fund are largely assigned by the credit agencies in the PRC, the methodologies adopted by such local rating agencies may not be consistent with the international rating agencies. In the event of downgrading in the credit ratings of a debt instrument or its issuer, the Fund's investment value in such security may be adversely affected.
- Investment in the Fund is subject to interest rate risk. Change of macro-economic policies in the PRC such as monetary and fiscal policy may cause changes to market interest rates, affecting the pricing of bonds and thus the return of the Fund.
- The Fund is denominated and settled in RMB; subscription and redemption must be made in RMB. RMB is not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. There is no guarantee that RMB will not depreciate. HKD Investors may suffer a loss if RMB depreciates against HKD or such other currencies.

<sup>2</sup> Past performance information is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested. Where no past performance is shown, meaning there was insufficient data available in that period to calculate and provide fair performance. The investment returns are denominated in RMB. US/HK dollar-based investors are therefore exposed to fluctuations in the US/HK dollar/RMB exchange rate. With effect from 9 February 2018, the investment strategy of the Fund was changed. Performance information prior to 9 February 2018 was achieved under circumstances that no longer apply. The investment objective of the Fund has also been changed on 11 April 2014.

▲ Manager's Comment

China's official Manufacturing PMI bounced back to above 50% in March, showing improved sentiment among manufacturers. The source of the improvement is highly likely linked to export demand. There seems to be a pattern that when there is a disruption to the international supply chains, the global demand for Chinese products rises. It was the case in the COVID period back in the years of 2020-2021. The U.S. military strike on Iran probably has caused another one. Against the backdrop of higher oil prices and the halt of production of many primary industrial products in many parts of the world, China is likely to become the ultimate supplier. China's exports probably will outperform in 2026. So will be China's trade surplus. On the other hand, sectors that are closely aligned with domestic demand are not expected to pick up in the near term. Recent recovery in the property market following the policy incentive in Tier-1 cities like Shanghai and Beijing will likely fade away. As a result, the overall prospect of employment and income will remain downbeat. The term K-shaped economy captures this bifurcation of economic trends well. The Chinese central bank has been generous in liquidity supply in Q1 but restrained in cutting policy rates. The bond market now has almost ruled out any interest rate cut for this year.
