Investment involves risks, including the loss of principal. The price of units or shares of the Funds may go up as well as down. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of the Funds can be extremely volatile and could go down substantially within a short period of time. You should read the Fund's Placing Memorandum or Explanatory Memorandum and Product Key Facts Statement for details, including risk factors. Investors should not base investment decisions on this marketing material alone. Please note:

- ChinaAMC Select RMB Bond Fund (the "Fund"), through the RQFII quota obtained by the Manager, invests primarily in RMB denominated fixed income securities issued or distributed in the PRC and may invest a small portion of its assets in PRC A-Shares.
- The Fund is subject to regulations which regulate investments by RQFIIs in the PRC which have just been announced and novel in nature. Any uncertainty and change to the relevant laws and regulations (such as PRC tax laws and repatriation policy) in the PRC may adversely impact the Fund.
- Investment in single country (the PRC) markets involves concentration and other risks not typically associated with investment in more developed economies or markets.
- Investment in RMB debt instruments in the PRC involves liquidity risk, credit risk, credit rating risk and downgrade risk. There may not be a liquid or active market for such RMB debt instruments; the Fund may also be exposed to credit/insolvency risk of issuers of the debt securities. As the credit ratings of the debt instruments of the Fund are largely assigned by the credit agencies in the PRC, the methodologies adopted by such local rating agencies may not be consistent with the international rating agencies. In the event of downgrading in the credit ratings of a debt instrument or its issuer, the Fund's investment value in such security may be adversely affected.
- Investment in the Fund is subject to interest rate risk. Change of macro-economic policies in the PRC such as monetary and fiscal policy may cause changes to market interest rates, affecting the pricing of bonds and thus the return of the Fund.
- The Fund is denominated and settled in RMB; subscription and redemption must be made in RMB. RMB is not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. There is no guarantee that RMB will not depreciate. HKD Investors may suffer a loss if RMB depreciates against HKD or such other currencies.

▲ Investment Objective

The Fund seeks to achieve capital appreciation and income generation by principally (i.e. up to 100% of its net assets) investing in (i) RMB denominated fixed income instruments, including bonds, issued or distributed within the PRC which (a) are denominated and settled in RMB and (b) are traded on the interbank bond market or are traded or transferred on the exchange market in the PRC, and (ii) fixed income funds (including money market funds) approved by the China Securities Regulatory Commission ("CSRC") and offered to the public in the PRC*.

* Investment in fixed income funds approved by the CSRC which are offered to the public in the PRC will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund.

Fund Factsheet

▲ Manager's Comment

Feb has witnessed new set of data that can gauge the quality of the economic recovery post covid-lockdown. In summary the data so far are not as overwhelming as some may expect. PMIs look strong, indicating strong economic activities right after lockdown. Many high frequency data(e.g. steel price, concrete price, etc ), once adjusted to lunar calendar to get rid of holiday effect, are in line with seasonal rhythm, meaning no extraordinary uptick. On the total demand side, things are not so promising. Inventory sub-index in Manufacturing PMI signals that inventory is piling up. Muted PPI and CPI data also point to a weak demand. Much-watched NPC meeting sets a moderate GDP growth target of "around 5%" vs consensus of "above 5%". It's probably the case that the leadership would rather observe the economic momentum for a while than roll out more stimulus programs right away. In reality, China doesn't have much room for fiscal stimulus and monetary easing. Accordingly, expectation of a swift economic rebound needs to be dialed back. After the reorganization of financial regulatory system, PBoC will get a new position in bureaucratic hierarchy and a new governor. Whether PBoC officials will change their quasi-independent and somewhat scholastic style of policy execution will likely have impact on financial market. On the bond market aspect, yields have come off since mid-Feb. Credit bonds are more in demand than rates because bond issuance has been slow and pent-up demand has shown up. Investors can enjoy the ride for now. Yield levels in last November are a likely target where bond longs can consider taking profit.

Class A-DIST-USD	27/2/2023	USD 0.03	4.89%

Dividend is not guaranteed and may be paid out of capital or effectively paid out of capital.

Annualized Dividend Yield =  $[(1 + \text{distribution per unit} / \text{ex-dividend NAV})^{12}] - 1$ . The annualized dividend yield is calculated based on the latest dividend distribution with dividend reinvested, and may be higher or lower than the actual annual dividend yield. Positive distribution yield does not imply positive return.
