Fund Factsheet

As of 31 May 2023

Investment involves risks, including the loss of principal. The price of units or shares of the Funds may go up as well as down. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of the Funds can be extremely volatile and could go down substantially within a short period of time. You should read the Fund's Placing Memorandum or Explanatory Memorandum and Product Key Facts Statement for details, including risk factors. Investors should not base investment decisions on this marketing material alone. Please note:

- ChinaAMC Select RMB Bond Fund (the "Fund"), through the RQFII quota obtained by the Manager, invests primarily in RMB denominated fixed income securities issued or distributed in the PRC and may invest a small portion of its assets in PRC A-Shares.
- The Fund is subject to regulations which regulate investments by RQFIIs in the PRC which have just been announced and novel in nature. Any uncertainty and change to the relevant laws and regulations (such as PRC tax laws and repatriation policy) in the PRC may adversely impact the Fund.
- Investment in single country (the PRC) markets involves concentration and other risks not typically associated with investment in more developed economies or markets.
- Investment in RMB debt instruments in the PRC involves liquidity risk, credit risk, credit rating risk and downgrade risk. There may not be a liquid or active market for such RMB debt instruments; the Fund may also be exposed to credit/insolvency risk of issuers of the debt securities. As the credit ratings of the debt instruments of the Fund are largely assigned by the credit agencies in the PRC, the methodologies adopted by such local rating agencies may not be consistent with the international rating agencies. In the event of downgrading in the credit ratings of a debt instrument or its issuer, the Fund's investment value in such security may be adversely affected.
- Investment in the Fund is subject to interest rate risk. Change of macro-economic policies in the PRC such as monetary and fiscal policy may cause changes to market interest rates, affecting the pricing of bonds and thus the return of the Fund.
- The Fund is denominated and settled in RMB; subscription and redemption must be made in RMB. RMB is not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. There is no guarantee that RMB will not depreciate. HKD Investors may suffer a loss if RMB depreciates against HKD or such other currencies.

Fund Factsheet

▲ Manager's Comment

The market remained divided in May. The FOMC meeting suggested that the rate hike was approaching its end. However, the expectation of a rate hike returned due to the continuing strong economic data in the United States. Although the negotiations on the U.S. debt ceiling caused some disturbance to the risk sentiment, the issue was eventually resolved. The pattern of the global economy continues with the service industry outperforming the manufacturing industry. The economic recovery in Europe and China has slowed down significantly. The supply of global credit bonds has picked up, and credit spreads rose initially but then fell. Chinese investment-grade long-term USD bonds continue to be sought after by investors, while the high-yield sector continued to accelerate its decline due to falling real estate sales data and negative public opinion. The portfolio actively participated in global primary market USD bond issuances, appropriately increased allocations to valuable RMB bonds, and maintained a relatively diversified maturity date layout to achieve higher potential returns on a secure basis.
